In today's multicultural and ever sensitive society we are increasingly likely to form friendships and work with people from a wide variety of religious backgrounds and find ourselves wondering about their religious beliefs and practices.

What foods do they eat, when and why? What are their special days and how do they celebrate them, feasts or fasts? We may even be invited to share their customs and celebrations. We will then be faced with the question. Do I Kneel Or Do I Bow?

This book provides a sensitive and informed background to the major faiths. It will enable you to participate and enjoy family celebrations with friends and acquaintances from different faiths without giving offence or facing embarrassment.

Akasha Lonsdale is an Interfaith Minister. Her seminary training in London included instruction in the major religions and sacred traditions of the world, and her vocation brings her into frequent contact with people of every faith. She brings an informed and enlightened approach born of wide knowledge and personal experience.
